FUI A UN THRIFT SHOP

I WENT TO A THRIFT SHOP

Hello, my name is Vale and I hope you are well because today you are going to accompany me to "Thrift".

Here in the US it is a little different from Mexico where you sift through piles at flea markets. It is much more organized and I will show you the concept. I am going to tell you why it is important to thrift and what you are missing by not doing it.

Thrift has the concept of saving and all the clothes is 2nd hand so therefore cheaper than going to a store. You might say "I don't want to buy clothes that are worn and used". I have to tell you that this is not the case. The reality is that the clothes are of much higher quality than you will find in the Fast Fashion Stores like H&M and Zara. You can find unique and original clothes. If you like originality, thrifting is for you.

What I especially like is that most about the thrift stores in the US is that they support a cause. All the money for sales here goes to a cause. This thrift store is called Bargain Box and run by the WCA and the money goes to research at the Sylvester Cancer Center and the UM Miller school of medicine. Annually they receive about $100,000.00 to support this cause.

But wait, another thing I love about thrifting is that it is saving the planet. The textile industry is the 2nd most contaminating industry and by recycling clothing you are helping the planet.

She comments on different items in the store and the low prices.

Let's recap about Thrifting.

1. You save Money
2. You can find original gems
3. You are helping the planet
4. You are helping a cause
- 5.

For these reasons I encourage you all to try it.

She looks at a discounted dress that was originally $35 then reduced to $20 then offered at half price. She tries it on and says she will make it short and casual and use the extra material for something else. She buys it.

Well I have left with my bag and even the bag is recycled. I love it. Super inexpensive. Thrifting is the max. The vibe here is different than the Mexican Flea Markets. It is much nicer and prettier.
